What is a Hoosier?

We are! Here on the only Forest named for the people of the state in which it is located, we pride ourselves on service to our communities and in stewarding this land and these resources for all the American people for generations to come.
Working for the Hoosier:

South-central Indiana is almost certainly not what you’re expecting. With rolling, forested hillsides, a richness of cave and karst resources, historic sites, awe inspiring trails and top notch camping opportunities this National Forest is a hidden and little known treasure of the system. Hoosier employees have a long history of camaraderie and cohesive working relationships leading to a highly productive, rewarding and enjoyable working atmosphere where you’ll be surrounded by dedicated and passionate people. As a small Forest, opportunities abound to gain exposure to the diversity of work and opportunities that the US Forest Service presents to its employees and advance your career with the agency. The Hoosier workforce is a great mix of employees who have been on this Forest many years and have a deep knowledge of the area and its history and those that have experiences drawn from all parts of the country. Working on the Hoosier can be a gateway to opportunities with the Forest Service anywhere in America, or an introduction to a place you’ll fall in love with and want to stay for many years.

Quality of life in southern Indiana is enjoyable and affordable. Whether you prefer small towns, a remote setting, or a larger more vibrant city with a major University and all the culture, entertainment, sports and restaurants that comes with such a setting; working for the Hoosier, you have choices, with towns of various sizes within a reasonable commuting distance.

Love Outdoor Activities? Besides the hundreds of miles of trails, excellent campgrounds, multiple lakes for boating and fishing and other recreation activities on the Hoosier National Forest, Indiana has a diverse array of State Parks and Forests which complement those of the Forest Service. You can even find a downhill ski resort in Paoli and nationally recognized mountain biking trails in and around Brown County.

Like Sports? Location doesn’t get any better than this if you like sports of all kinds. Big Ten and ACC college athletics of all types can be found nearby at Indiana University and the University of Louisville. Indianapolis is a short drive away, home of the NFL’s Colts and NBA’s Pacers as well as the Indy 500, the Brickyard 400, and a Triple A minor league baseball. Major League Baseball is only a little further in Cincinnati.
Music, Theater, Comedy, Gaming and more? Indiana University is home to the premier music school in the country, offering public performance of all genres, plays, operas and ballet. The college town of Bloomington draws national and international performers of all kinds, year-round and on par with larger cities, but without a need to fight traffic to access any of it and has a vibrant international restaurant scene. French Lick is home to a large casino and PGA golf course, and the adjacent historic West Baden Springs offers a luxury hotel and spa. The area is home to a growing number of excellent breweries and wineries as well.

Forestry Technician (Fire Dispatch) Position and Responsibilities:

This position serves as a Fire Dispatcher located in the Indiana Interagency Dispatch Center. The area involved encompasses federal, state, and private lands within the dispatch center’s area of influence. The center is responsible primarily for wildland fire preparedness and suppression support activities, but may respond to all-risk incidents as needed or directed.

The primary purpose of this position is to serve as a fire dispatcher in support of fire suppression activities.

Prior wildland firefighting experience on the fireline is a mandatory requirement.

This position serves as a dispatcher performing the full range of standardized support duties commonly found in the work area, such as:

- Receiving, filling, and tracking resource requests for fire and other emergency incidents.
- Follows detailed procedures in initiating requests to higher organizational levels for additional resources as needed.
- Maintains resource status and tracking systems and operates telecommunications systems.
- Collects, processes, collates and submits incident information to support fire operations (e.g. fire reports, smoke permits, spot weather forecasts, prescribed fire burn requests).
- Organizes and reviews completed records of all orders placed and actions taken to ensure adherence to established operating procedures.
- Processes weather information (e.g., spot weather forecasts, weather station observations, current and forecasted weather, lightning detection, and fuel moisture levels). This information is used to determine burning indices, preparedness levels and staffing levels for suppression and aviation resources.
- Inputs data into a number of fire-related computer applications (e.g., incident qualification records, fire reporting systems, and automated dispatch systems) and makes the initial assessment of outputs.
- Assists in providing critical logistical support information to supervisor.
- Records and maintains communication logs.
- Coordinates and may assist with fire training and orientation.
- Gathers information for the development and maintenance of the dispatch mobilization guide and internal dispatch operating guides.
- Shares information with cooperators and other interested entities.
Description of the Forest:

The Hoosier National Forest encompasses nearly 204,000 acres in South Central Indiana stretching south from Bloomington to the Ohio River and is located within a drive of two hours or less from Cincinnati, Ohio; Evansville and Indianapolis, Indiana; and Louisville, Kentucky. Two ranger districts include the Brownstown District in Bedford, Indiana and the Tell City District in Tell City, Indiana.

The Hoosier National Forest sits in the unglaciated hills of Southern Indiana. The Forest provides a range of opportunities and resources for people to enjoy. The many recreation opportunities including camping, fishing, hiking, horseback riding, hunting, mountain bike riding, and viewing scenery. The only congressionally designated wilderness in Indiana, the 13,000 acre Charles C. Deam Wilderness provides opportunities for users desiring higher levels of solitude. In addition the Forest has over 265 miles of trails for hiking, biking, or horseback riding.

The Hoosier works to provide integrated resource management on the complex mosaic that make up National Forest System Lands in Indiana. Only 31% of the land within the Forest Boundary is National Forest System land, this scattered ownership pattern adds a complexity to the management of this valued natural resource. Forest managers are responsible for protection of some very unique resources. The Hoosier is located in an area rich in caves and karst features. These underground features are largely unknown to most Forest visitors but are home to many species that are specific to these habitats. The Hoosier has five endangered or threatened species: the fanshell and rough pigtoe mussels reside in rivers to the south; the gray, Indiana and northern long-eared bats and their habitat occur throughout the Forest. The wildlife program on the Forest focuses on management to provide habitat for these species as well as many others that occur throughout the area.

The Forest works to maintain and restore sustainable ecosystems. The vegetation management on the forest focuses on promoting native oak and hickory regeneration, reducing nonnative pine planted to restore farmed lands, and reducing nonnative invasive plant and animal species.

The Hoosier National Forest organization is non-traditional with an emphasis on placing resource specialists closer to the ground. Certain Forest-level staff functions that traditionally reside in a Supervisor's Office work in a team environment and serve as District-level program managers. This serves to broaden District interdisciplinary teams and improve technology transfer, customer service, and quality of stewardship. We view the Districts as the backbone of the Forest Service organization and emphasize customer service at that level. Additional information and an orientation video of the Forest may be found at http://www.fs.fed.us/r9/hoosier.
Bedford Office

The Hoosier National Forest Supervisor’s Office is co-located within the Brownstown Ranger District in Bedford, Indiana. Bedford is a full-service community of approximately 14,000 residents. Bedford has excellent schools, outstanding shopping, cultural amenities, and small town atmosphere. Bedford is in the Eastern Time zone and features a broad-based economy. Major area employers include GM Powertrain, Indiana Limestone, Manchester Tank, and Stone City Products. Bedford is known as the “Limestone Capital of the World” because of the abundance and quality of the limestone which has been used on many landmark buildings in the U.S., including the Empire State Building and the Pentagon.

Bedford has five elementary schools, one junior high school, one high school (includes area vocational school) and Bedford City College, which offers adult education and college credit courses. Eighteen miles north of Bedford is Bloomington, home of Indiana University. In addition, Bedford is within commuting distance of six degree granting institutions. Indianapolis is approximately 70 miles north and is the state capitol.

Housing prices, for purchase or rent, are reasonable and affordable. Local services include a wide variety of places of worship, a library, two hospitals providing comprehensive medical services, and a variety of banking, shopping facilities, and restaurants.

There are several communities within commuting distance of Bedford. Links are provided below:

Bedford, Indiana; Bloomington, Indiana; Mitchell, Indiana; Seymour, Indiana

Tell City Office

The Hoosier National Forest Tell City Ranger District Office is located in Tell City and Perry County. Tell City is located on the banks of the Ohio River and was founded in 1858 by the Swiss Colonization Society for Swiss and German immigrants. Settlement occurred early due to the city’s proximity to the Ohio River. Community development was directly related to river travel. The city recognizes its Swiss and German heritage each August at the annual Schweizer Fest. Perry County has a population of approximately 18,900 people, with an estimated 7,500 in Tell City. The area observes central time zone.

Major industries in the area include lumbering, manufacturing, and farming, additional area employers include ThyssenKrupp Waupaca, Mulzer Crushed Stone, Accent Marketing Services, ATTC Manufacturing, and Branchville Correctional Facility.

Perry County has 3 public elementary schools (1 in Tell City); 3 junior–senior high schools (7-12) (1 in Tell City). In addition there are two private schools located in the county. Perry County also boasts a state community college campus (Ivy Tech). Perry County Hospital is located between the communities of Tell City and Cannelton. Housing in Perry County is very affordable. Median home values in Tell City are around $87,000.
Perry County’s rolling hills along the Ohio River provide amazing views of natural beauty, the area is well suited to outdoor recreation pursuits. Several boat ramps on the Ohio River provide access for boating and fishing. Five man-made lakes in Perry County offer water-based recreation opportunities.

The Ohio River National Scenic Byway runs through the county providing scenic bicycling and driving areas that tell the story of the river, the county, and the culture of the area.
